OFFICIAL PAPER OF GILA COUNTY.

Saturday, March 24, 1888.

GOVERNMENT AID TO TERRITORIES

The fate of the bill, reported to the House by the Committee on Territories, appropriating $50,000 for the development of the water resources of New Mexico and Arizona, is of little concern to the people of the two Territories, since the amount proposed to be expended is wholly inadequate to even a superficial exploration.

The bill contemplates a hydrographic survey of both Territories for the purpose of ascertaining the practicability of storing water in reservoirs, and in boring artesian wells on public lands. Would the sum remaining to the fund, after the cost of the surveys is deducted, be sufficient to sink one well in each of the two Territories? and if any doubt existed on that score, how should the momentous question as to which Territory was entitled to the first well, be settled?

Again, it would seem that the purpose of the bill was not so much to aid settlers as it is a speculation on the part of the Government, since it is provided that the minimum price of all lands thus reclaimed is to be $4 per acre. We should think the Government could afford to invest much more of its surplus than $50,000 in a scheme promising such large returns.

It has never been the policy of our Government to aid and foster the development of her vast domain comprising the Western Territories, and then staid growth in population and wealth is wonderful when we consider the very unfavorable conditions under which the work of reclamation and development has been accomplished—in spite of the impediments which the Government has seen fit to place in the way of their progress. And the Territories under all this discouragement have become very considerable contributors to the revenue of the United States without receiving anything like adequate recognition, and are denied a voice in the direction of public affairs. This latter is certainly an injustice which demands immediate correction.

But to revert to the subject of water development, Mexico again furnishes an example worthy of emulation by the United States, as it is announced that our sister republic has determined upon a plan for the reclamation of her desert lands by sinking artesian wells, which is only a part of the very liberal policy inaugurated by the Mexican government for the expansion of her mining, agricultural and pastoral interests. The contract has been let for sinking nine wells in the State of Sonora, and the first is now being driven in the district of Altar. These will furnish water sufficient, it is calculated, to make productive millions of acres of the finest land in the world, adapted to the growth of the orange, lemon, lime, fig, pomegranate and other fruits indigenous to a semi-tropical climate.

Arizona presents possibilities of equal scope with those of Sonora. Of a total area of 72,268,800 acres, less than 2,000,000 acres in Arizona are susceptible of cultivation, for lack of water. Just think of it, more than 70,000,000 acres of land, almost as much as the combined areas of Illinois and Missouri, now entirely useless for the purposes of agriculture, but much of it arable, which irrigation would render as fruitful as the famed valley of Eschcol, in Palestine. But $50,000 will not do it. That sum is ridiculously small. With $500,000 much might be accomplished in the way of demonstrating the feasibility of artesian wells and storage reservoirs, but to reclaim our fertile river valleys and broad mesas several million dollars would be required, and it would be money judiciously expended, and which would again return to Uncle Sam's coffers from the sale of public lands and increased revenue receipts.

A Chicago company, of which Mar-der Luse & Co., the well known type foundry, are the principals, are erecting smelting works, of 50 tons capacity, at Crittenden, Pima county. The furnaces, were to have been blown in on the 23d. This enterprise, it is expected, will greatly assist the development of mines at Crittenden, Harshaw and Washington.

From Custom-house reports up to date at Nogales it is learned that the shipments of oranges to the United States from the State of Sonora have already exceeded fifty carloads for the season, which is not over yet. It is estimated that the actual crop of the season will be over seventy carloads.

The Senate bill appropriating $100,000 for the erection of a monument commemorative of the service of colored soldiers who lost their lives during the late unpleasantness, received an affirmative vote of that body. This being a Presidential year, politicians are expected to be liberal in disposing of the public treasure.

The Idea of March witnessed the commencement of a Democratic blizzard which will render it very unpleasant for the gipsy wing of the same party, in whose camp the mercury sank below zero, and which rendered the frequent passing of the jug necessary to preserve the political vital spark in the veins of Zulick and his henchman Marion. The cloud which betokened the storm appeared in the northwest and was heralded in Tucson on the 14th, by the appearance of Honorable A. C. Baker and E. J. Edwards, and when it reached the ancient and honorable pueblo it sprung to life, and there and then went straight for the gipsy's child, which reposed in the lap of the dry nurse Marion, sucking a bottle containing, not milk, but something stronger which it required for its support because of a recent attack of the rickets. The child is only remarkable because of being unlike any other child, but that perhaps is accounted for by the fact of its being the first born. Its head is small and flat at top, a long snipe nose, and very closely resembles a weathercock perched upon a spindle neck, evidently with a view of telling which way the wind blows. At the time referred to it was teething and consequently suffering from a derangement of the bowels. Tax-payers, fearing the brat might continue a charge upon the Territorial Treasury, concluded to kill it before it absorbed the substance of the people, assembled at Fireman's hall, in Tucson, on the 14th, where Messrs. Baker and Edwards, of Phoenix, and local speakers of Pima county, members of the Democratic club, dropped some deadly acid in its cup, which threw it into convulsions, rendering it no longer "a thing of beauty and a joy for ever."

We are gratified to learn that the health of Hon. Patrick Hamilton was greatly improved by his sojourn at San Diego, California. During his stay there Mr. Hamilton did not omit to speak in favor of Arizona on every occasion that offered, as articles in the San Diego Union testify. During his term as Commissioner of Immigration Mr. Hamilton did effective work for this Territory, through his able compilation, "Resources of Arizona," by correspondence, and publications in newspapers of the East and of California. In fact he is the only man who ever did accomplish anything in that direction, and it is highly praiseworthy in him that since the expiration of his term of office, and after having been accorded such niggardly praise by the people of the Territory, he has not relaxed his efforts to bring Arizona's great resources to the favorable notice of people abroad, and to induce immigration hither. Mr. Hamilton's labor is in marked contrast to the inertness and incompetency of the present Commissioner of Immigration, Cameron H. King.

The numerous complaints from almost every section of the West of inefficient mail service resulted in a resolution of inquiry being introduced in the House, over which Postmaster-General Don M. Dickinson is greatly perturbed, and he makes an indignant denial of the charges. His assertion that the facilities for the transportation and distribution of mail in the West are adequate, will not alter the facts, however. Where complaints are so general there must be some foundation for them, especially as many of them emanate from Democratic sources. It is a matter of general comment that the present mail service in Arizona is the worst we have had for many years.

The Scientific and Mining Press says that residents of Montana are subscribing liberally to a fund to send representatives to Washington, to protect their interests in the matter of mineral lands which the railroad companies are endeavoring illegally to absorb. Although mineral land is specially reserved from railroad grants, and there is a law against its being taken up as agricultural, a great deal has been taken out of the public domain. This, of course, reduces the area for prospecting and puts in the hands of private parties tracts which should support a mining population.

Active and determined strides are being made in the movement toward abolishing bull-fighting in the City of Mexico. It is stated that already 100,000 signatures are appended to the petition for the suppression of the sport within the Federal district, and $80,000 have been subscribed by the merchants to be devoted to procuring the passage and repeal of the necessary laws which will lead to that result.

The storm along the Atlantic coast had abated, at last New York dates, but its disastrous effects were visible everywhere along its course, and reports, then incomplete, of the loss of life and property, and the suffering occasioned, would do credit to a Dakota blizzard. The victims of the storm, as far as known, number thirty persons, and no doubt many more will be discovered.

The Territorial Republican convention, for the selection of two delegates and two alternates to the National Republican Convention, at Chicago, on the 19th of the next, will be held at Phoenix on the 25th day of April.

Copper is steady at 16 1/2c.

The Santa Fe strike is ended and trains are again running.

The severest snow storm of the season visited Holbrook on the 20th.

James W. Tate, State Treasurer of Kentucky, is short $150,000 in his accounts, and has been given the grand bounce by Governor Buckner.

Hoof & Horn says beef, in California, is quoted at from 6 to 8 cts. per pound, the lowest figure being in the southern part of the state and the highest in and around San Francisco.

The attention of the Tucson Democratic Club is called to the announcement by the appointment, by President Cleveland, to Federal offices in Wyoming, of men from Indiana and Kentucky.

Gen. Badeau, who licked Grant's memoirs into shape for publication, now insists upon remuneration for his services, and in the New York Sun recites how much pains it required to render the book readable.

A bill is now under consideration by Congress which provides for arbitration in cases of disagreement between railroads and their employees. It makes it unlawful for employees to strike until after a railroad has failed for five days to comply with their request for arbitration.

All the registered letter clerks leaving Kansas City will be supplied with revolvers and ammunition, pursuant to the order of the general superintendent of railroad clerks. Passengers and the public would prefer to have these officials furnished with maps of the United States.—Silver City Enterprise.

A frightful railroad disaster occurred near Savannah, Georgia, on the 17th inst. The first section of the fast mail from New York went through a trestle. The entire train, excepting the engine, was demolished, nineteen persons killed and between thirty and forty injured—ten fatally. George J. Gould and wife were passengers but escaped, Mrs. Gould with slight bruises.

A prominent stockman of this country has sent to Germany for a select supply of asperges, with a view of testing its capabilities as an open range grass in Northern Arizona. If it is one-half as good as it is claimed to be, it is just the thing to grow on eaten out ranges, as it is said to grow on the most barren hillsides, while it is lauded as the most nutritious feed, resembling most in this respect clover. It grows luxuriantly, reaching a height of thirteen inches, while two crops can be cut annually. In Germany it is preferred to alfalfa, as it is said to fatten stock better and make cows give better milk.—Hoof and Horn.

A Remedy for the Constipated.

Wretched men and women long condemned to suffer the tortures of dyspepsia, are filled with new hope after a few doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This budding hope blossoms into the fruition of certainty, if the Bitters is persisted in. It brings a reprieve to all dyspeptics who seek its aid. Flatulence, heartburn, sinking at the pit of the stomach between meals, the nervous tremors and insomnias of which chronic indigestion is the parent, disappear with their hateful progenitor. Most beneficent of stomachics! who can wonder that in so many instances it awakens grateful eloquence in those who, benefited by it, speak voluntarily in its behalf. It requires a graphic pen to describe the tortures of dyspepsia, but in many of the testimonials received by the proprietor of the Bitters, these are portrayed with vivid truthfulness. Constipation, biliousness, muscular debility, malarial fevers and rheumatism are relieved by it.

Senator Sherman, like other representatives of the gold interest in Congress who voted for the bill demonetizing silver, in 1873, disclaims any desire to injure silver, and asserts that legislation against silver in this country has had nothing to do with the decline in price of that metal. Then will Senator Sherman explain why it is that our silver dollar depreciated within fifteen years (as he reminds Senator Beck) until worth only 70 cents? Had the clause in the bill of 1873, restricting silver as a legal tender to sums of not more than $5 nothing to do with that depreciation? And how is it, as Senator Beck points out, that in the banks of England, France, Germany and Austria-Hungary, silver is now in excess of gold and is maintained at par with gold without any trouble whatever?

Senator Beck says truly that from the beginning of the war until now, the moneyed men of the country and their advocates and supporters in Congress and elsewhere, have sought, first, to make money out of the country's distresses; and then, at all hazards and by all means, foul and fair, lawful and unlawful, to make themselves rich at the expense of the great masses of the people. The demonetization of silver was but one step in that line, in perfect accord with all others that were taken.

White Swelling.
Mr. M. S. Hamlin, one of the best known insurance men in North Carolina, writes from Winston, as follows: "Ever since I was seven years of age I have had what the doctors call hip disease, and which I call white swelling. My hip was drawn out of place. There was a swelling at the knee-joint, where there is a profuse running, which has been there for years. Of course this has greatly depleted my system, together with surgical operation on the leg bone. I tried every known blood purifier to build up my system, but none did me good until I took S. S. S. I use it every spring. It always builds me up, giving me appetite and digestion, and enables me to stand the long, trying, enervating, hot summer days. To me there is no such medicine for purifying the blood and building up the wasted system as S. S. S. On using it I soon became strong of body and easy of mind. My color changed from a pale, worn look to a healthy, robust complexion." Mr. G. N. Frazier, of Farmersville, Texas, writes: "About August 1st, 1895, an eruption appeared on my arms and legs, which pained me much and seemed to affect my physical condition generally. On the advice of a physician at this place, I finally commenced using Swift's Specific. I am glad to say that after using three large bottles the sores have all healed."
